SOUPS AND CHOWDERSHOULD FIGURE FREQUENTLY ON HOUSEHOLD MENU.

May or May Not Be Substantial, as One Desires, but Are Practically Essential—Corn Chowder Splendid Luncheon Dish.

Soups made with herbs and vegetables to be used on fast days are very numerous. Some of them are created for novelty, some for very simple light form of diet, merely a hot beverage suitable for very cold weather, or cold in summer time, like the Russian or German beer soups. Then there are other soups or purees made entirely of vegetables and herbs which are substantial enough to replace meat dishes as they give a considerable amount of nitrogenous food when they are properly compounded. But the names of these soups do not designate them as belonging to any special time or season. Here are three of the best:

Corn Chowder—Chowders make most satisfying and nourishing luncheon dishes, and several are made without meat extractives of any kind. For corn chowder take a quart of grated fine corn; ordinary canned sweet corn may be used, but first put through a food chopper; also a white onion chopped fine, two good-sized white potatoes, diced; a tablespoonful of minced parsley, salt and pepper. Put the potatoes in first, then a sprinkling of onion, a little parsley, salt, pepper, and then a layer of corn. Then more potato, and so on, until all are in, having the top layer of corn. Add a pint of cold water and simmer gently until the potato is just tender, but not broken. About twenty minutes will be sufficient, perhaps less. Rub together two tablespoonfuls of butter and two of flour; add beaten egg yolk and thin with a little hot milk; then add a pint of scalded hot milk; stir all together and stir into the chowder. Stir and cook a few minutes longer and serve at once. If you do not wish to use the egg, the chowder is excellent without it.Convent Soup—Take two pounds of fresh flounder, or any white fish; cut in pieces; one carrot, one onion, one turnip, two stalks of celery, chopped. Add a bunch of herbs and a quart of cold water, and cook gently for about two hours. Take out the fish, remove the bones and skin and put the meat back into the soup with a pint of scalding hot milk, thickened with a level tablespoonful each of butter and flour and mixed with the beaten yolk of an egg and a little lemon juice. Season to taste with salt, pepper and grating of nutmeg. Press through a sieve and serve.Good Vegetable Soup—Cut into fancy shapes or chop fine one small carrot, one turnip, one tomato (the solid meat of canned tomatoes can be used); add half a pint of peas, half a pint of beans, soaked and parboiled if dry; two tablespoonfuls of rice, one quart of cold soft water, and cook slowly. A cupful of corn and two white potatoes, diced, may be added when the soup is nearly done. Season with salt and pepper to taste. Another quart of boiling water will be required. The rice may be boiled separately in this water and both added to the soup.Cranberry Puffs.

Sift together two cupfuls sifted flour, four teaspoonfuls baking powder and one-half teaspoonful salt; rub one-quarter cupful butter into the flour; beat three eggs until thick as cream; add one cupful of rich milk and stir into the flour with one pint of cranberries. Fill buttered cups half full of the mixture and steam closely covered one hour. Serve with cranberry sauce.

Sauce—Boil two cupfuls sugar and one-half cupful water five minutes; add one cupful cranberry juice and boil again; if a thicker sauce is desired add a teaspoonful of cornstarch. Cook ten minutes, add teaspoonful butter and one tablespoonful lemon juice.Parasip Balls.

Mash one pint of boiled parsnips. Add two tablespoonfuls of butter, a half teaspoonful of salt, a little pepper and two tablespoonfuls of cream. Mix together and stir on the fire until the mixture bubbles. Remove from the fire and before it cools add one well beaten egg. When cold make into balls about half the size of an egg. Dip into beaten egg, then into bread crumbs. Use the frying basket for these balls and fry to a pale brown in boiling lard.

A LARGE TOOTH FOUND.

Dr. R. S. Parks had in his possession last Monday, a large tooth weighing over two pounds, which attracted much attention upon the streets. It was found near Lenox in Dyer county, by some timber men in an embankment where the water had washed the soil away, leaving the tooth bare. The tooth was hollow or a portion broken off and what remained had petrified. At the same place another tooth was found, which is in possession of a Mr. Childers at Dyersburg, and weighs six pounds. Also a large leg bone was found. Of course the teeth and leg bone are that of some monster animal, which roamed over this country centuries ago. Probably they are the remains of a Mastodon, an animal that has now become extinct, but lived in America about the time the Mound Builders were here.

Dr. Parks is going to send the tooth in his possession to the Smithsonian Institute, at Washington, and have it examined, and upon the strength of this, the Institute is likely to send parties to Lenox to dig up the rest of the marvelous remains.—Lake County News.

WHEN HER BACK ACHESA Woman Finds All Her energy and Ambition Slipping Away.

Hickman women know how the aches and pains that often comes when the kidneys fail make life a burden. Backache, hip pains, headaches, dizzy spells, distressing urinary troubles, are frequent indications of weak kidneys and should be checked in time. Doan's Kidney Pills are for the kidneys only. They attack kidney disease by striking at the cause. Here's proof of their merit in a Hickman woman's words: "Mrs. R. Graves Hickman, Ky., says: 'I had lameness and weakness in my back, was tired all the time and had depressing headaches. Reading about Doan's Kidney Pills, I got a supply from Helm & Ellison's Drug Store. They rid me of the trouble. I still use Doan's Kidney Pills when a cold affects my kidneys and they cure me. You may continue publishing the endorsement I have given them before.'"

It has long been a custom for candidates for congress to stump the county biennially. This always gives the people an opportunity to hear from Washington and learn about the doings of Congress and this generally took about half of a Congressman time. During the present administration there has been too much for Congress to do, and hence we have not been visited by our representative during this campaign. Congressman Barkley has been in Washington and is there now looking after our interests and neglecting his own canvass, although two or three men are going up and down the counties hurling missiles at him while he is away and unable to come home without neglecting our interests and his own duty. Shall we defeat a man while he is away looking after our interests and send up another inexperienced representative to Congress next winter just because one is away and the other among us daily? We know of no good reason why Mr. Barkley should not be returned, and we believe he will be by a big vote.—Fulton News (adv.)

why GOV. McCREARY should be nominated for U. S. Senator:

1st.

Because it means the party's certain triumph in the final election.

2nd.

Because he has had experience which insures efficient service.

3rd.

Because he has responded always when his party called for his services whether it accorded with his own plans and desires or not.

4th.

Because he was a Confederate soldier and a Confederate officer and we cannot honor such too often when they have ever since been good useful patriotic citizens.

5th.

Because he is one of the few public men who have preserved an unblemished character. To repudiate such men influences our youth to dishonor; while to uphold such men, encourages our young men to be upright.

6th.

Because he redeemed Kentucky from Republican rule by 31,000 majority and the Democrats are obligated to him more than any other man.

7th.

Because he has already an acquaintance and influence in the U. S. Senate which would make him a power in that body from the moment he appears there.

8th.

Because he is the only candidate before the people who possesses the ripe age, experience and dignity—wisdom and trained ability requisite for so high and honorable a position.

9th.

Because his remarkable career, the pride of all Democrats and all true Kentuckians, demands to be crowned with the final victory to round it out to a proper completion.

10th.

Because it's better to judge men by what they do than by what they say—for to his administration: justly and rightfully belongs all credit for all temperance legislation. He wrote the County Unit Plank in the last Democratic platform at the first legislative session. This with all other platform pledges promised the people were crystallized into laws.

11th.

Because we want to preserve redeemed democracy in Kentucky.
